Your #1 Healer Type “The Ancestral Healer”

Based on the information you've shared and the little I know about you and your situation, your “#1 Healer Type, is what's known as “TAH” or the “The Ancestral Healer”.

YOUR #1 HEALER TYPE

Here's What That Means...

What that means is YOU are meant to work with the energies of the Earth, your ancestors, your roots and all the elementals of GAIA.

The Ancestral Healer loves stones, crystals, herbs, prefers to take herbal tea instead of medical prescriptions, respects the environment and everything that is related to planet Earth. His/her favorite music is the drums and feels attracted by tribal sounds also. He/She needs to come back often to his/her birthplace (in case he/she is living abroad).

This Ancestral Healer can show up in ancestral circles, in family reunions, be interested by his/her DNA, feel called to explore his/her roots, love his/her birthplace culture and can become a great Shamanic Healer or Herbal Practitioner.

Common “Ancestral Healer” Mistakes & Blockers

You probably already knew you have the ability to help others, or it may be the first time you are discovering it.

In fact, you came here with a mission to be fulfilled in this incarnation! If you do not do that mission, your soul will be totally disconnected with the purpose of its existence.

The one big mistake this “Ancestral Healer” can do is to miss windows of opportunity to connect with his/her roots, portal, family and traditions.

While other healers are right on their path, You can feel like you are falling behind. This can be frustrating and concerning for you. You probably are not sharing the magic of your ancestors and your culture.. You may be trying to grab spirituality from other sources and origins. That’s not bad, but it is not your pillar, your structure and foundation to share your gifts.

And here’s the thing...

The impact of those “missed windows” gets greater over time.

Not only do you miss out the opportunity to share the magic of your portals and ancestors, you also risk not fulfilling your soul mission and live with passion and drive sharing your gifts.

Living with no alignment in your life purpose and soul mission can create feelings of frustration, emptiness, dissatisfaction, sadness and even anxiety.
